Second Test Well, Big Producer, May Help Town

OFF THEY GO - On the new merry-go-round at Central Playground. This is an added feature this year that has given a lot of pleasure to the youngsters. (Leone)

Engineers Report Next Monday; Ban Stays On First Well Probably Hooked Up Now After Several Delays

The town's second test well - in a gravel pit in Ballardvale - is producing "substantially" more water than the first one.

BPW Chairman Allan Flye hasn't yet seen pumping figures, but he said the well apparently is much more productive than the one now being tied into the town's water system. That one should produce 300,000 gallons a day, the engineers estimate.

Monday Night's Report Vital

The second well, however, is not tied into the water system, although it may be in a few weeks.

Flye said consulting engineers are studying the problem and will probably report by next Monday night. Involved in the decision is the ability of the present water main on Andover st. to accept the new flow of water at a pressure sufficient to force it into the main against the flow of water already running there.

The second well is some 1200 feet from the main and

$3800 Minimum, $6000 Top Salary Urged By School Group

A 15-year increase in basic teachers' salaries, from $3800 to $6000, has been recommended to the School Committee by its special salary committee.

Phillips Academy Headmaster John M. Kemper presented the committee's report. Also serving on the Special group were Very Rev. Vincent J. McQuade, O.S.A., president of Merrimack College; Mrs. Alexander Crane, principal of Abbot Academy and Mrs. Rose Cardella of the Andover Teachers Association.

The present starting salary in the public schools is $3300. The recommended minimum, $500 higher, and subsequent boosts outlined in the report would be

Parking Rules Set For Area Near Raytheon

Work should be completed "in about a week" on posting many Shawsheen streets for two-hour parking.

Selectman Sidney P. White estimated the Police Department will need that amount of time to finish erecting the signs on streets around Raytheon Manufacturing Co. Residents have forcefully complained many times about cars parked all day on their streets, leaving them no room for their own vehicles.

With two parking areas now available for Raytheon employees, Mr. White said there should no

DAMAGE MAY COST MORE THAN $800

Vandalism at Pomp's Pond and the Playgrounds may cost the town more than the $800 reported last week in this newspaper.

A Recreation Committee official said the final bills, which will be made available in the fall, may well total above the $800 estimate.

While damage at Pomp's was done, mainly, before the official opening, the Playgrounds have been the scenes of more continuous activities of a destructive nature, with most blame given to older children who go to the grounds at night, when there is no supervision. It is known that the police have been asked to visit the grounds frequently, after Playground hours, to avoid further damage if possible.

Rebuilt Scout Camp Has Busy Season

Days seem very, very short at Camp Maude Eaton! So one little Girl Scout camper remarked as she ran toward the dining hall, all sun-tanned and happy from her morning's activities.

The new main lodge, replacing the fire-destroyed building of last April 18, is now completed - just in the nick of time for a full season of camping. Miss Aurore Nadeau is camp director, having in her charge as many as 70 children during the camp sessions.

Three new aluminum rowboats have been added to the camp equipment and many furnishings have been donated to help in the initial

Many Tournaments At 5 Playgrounds

What to do and who to play with are questions never pondered too long by the "playground set", for there are few dull moments if any on all five fields. Tournaments continue on the grounds until Aug. 7 with competition in sand building, bean bagging, checkers, ping pong, chess and dominoes.

The long no-rain period has been ideal weather for special activities. Central playground had a "go" this past week at a bubble gum contest. Friday at 11 the children were divided into different age groups and after a lot of preliminary chewing to get the gum "just right", the contests were on! Maureen Hewitt came out first in the under six group; Geraldine Bissett in the seven, eight and nine age group; Peter Nowell in the 10-12 group and Mary Ronnan in the 13 and over group. Final gold ribbon winner was Mary Ronnan.

Tomorrow Central playground features a doll, stuffed animal and odd toy show.

Ballardvale

TV impersonations at Ballardvale last Friday were a highly enjoyable event. The Lone Ranger, Sgt. Preston, Davey Crockett, Porky Pig and Phil Silvers were some of the personalities. Judges, Mrs. Eldon Salter and Mrs. Merrill Rouff were hard put to select the best ones.

Robert Walent, however, received first place in the most original class with his impersonation of Harry Belafonte and also took the grand prize for the best in the show.

The closest impersonation found William Haggerty's, Mr. Green Jeans deserving of first honors.

This week's activity will be a doll and truck show at 10:30 tomorrow.

Indian Ridge

The results of a hobby show held last Thursday at Indian Ridge list first honors to Robert Boulanger for his draftsman kit and to Sally Burke for her collection of pot holders. Miss Ann Marie Walsh, Dorothy Ann Walsh and Rosalie Milne were the judges.

This morning at 10:30, a doll show is being held.

Shawsheen

A costume show was the third successful event of the season at Shawsheen. First prize for the most original went to Diane Wilig who was dressed as a hill-billy fisherman.

A pet show will be the feature today at 2:30.

North District

Many baby pictures were submitted for the baby picture contest held at North District last Friday. Pamela Richardson captured the first prize for the prettiest and Therese Levesque for the cutest. A hat show will be the feature tomorrow.

All-Stars Practice Saturday

THEY'RE THE BEST - Members of the Little League All-Star Team lined up at the field last week, as they attended the baseball clinic run by Lefty Gomez. The All-Stars will practice Saturday at Ballardvale. Left to right are Ellsworth Madden, Mike Lebreck, Rick Busby, Kent Warner, John Auchterlonie, Frank Bleszinski, Robert Edgar, Ronald Hajj, George Chetson, James Earley, Tom Auchterlonie and Norman Wallace. William Butler and Allan Taylor were not present but are team members.

The second Little League All-Star Team practice session will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. in Ballardvale.

Fourteen Little Leaguers, representing all four of the teams, make up the All-Stars. They were selected by the managers of the teams.

Although practice was held last Saturday and will be scheduled again this weekend, the date of the first play-off game has not been decided. A meeting tonight of all district Little League presidents will arrange the schedule. It is customary for League representatives to draw for dates and opponents. The meeting tonight, in the office of Dr. Milton J. Meyers, who controls the All-Star play-offs in this district, will set up this schedule.

Named to the All-Stars were Norman Wallace and Thomas Auchterlonie - Cardinals; Ronald Hajj, George Chetson and James Earley - Yankees; Alan Taylor, Kent Warner, John Auchterlonie, Frank Bleszinski, Robert Edgar and William Butler - Giants and Richard Busby, Ellsworth Madden and Michael Lebreck - Red Sox.

Arthur White, manager of the local champs, the giants, with Fred Hale, manager of the Yankees, will handle coaching duties for the All-Star team.

Officials Meet Tonight At 8

Officials from many towns and cities in the Merrimack Valley meet tonight at 8 in Central Auditorium to discuss cleaning up the river.

Response has been good to the invitation, according to Selectman Sidney P. White. He said several letters of acceptance have been enthusiastic about the prospects of cleaning up the river so the water can be used for drinking purposes.

The Andover Taxpayers Association has added its commendation. President Henry Wolfson issued the following statement praising the Selectmen for initiating the meeting:

"The Andover Taxpayers Association is delighted with the response from other Massachusetts and New Hampshire municipalities to the invitation from our Board of Selectmen to attend the Merrimack Valley exploratory conference Thursday evening, July 18.

"We, in the Association, doubt very seriously that Andover's long-term water needs can be met adequately by tapping underground water supplies. We believe it highly probable that the town will be compelled ultimately to obtain at least part of its needs from expanded surface sources. The Merrimack River represents an almost inexhaustible supply and proper action to clean up the river and to further treat the water could remove the spectre of drought for the foreseeable future.

"The Board of Selectmen should be commended for taking this step and should have the support of every resident of the town in this activity. We urge every resident who can do so to attend the meeting at the Central School Auditorium."

RECOMMEND $6000

MAXIMUM SALARY

given to all teachers. Mr. Kemper said the committee has not yet worked out the proper method for rewarding good and excellent teachers - but the committee, he said, feels "the good or excellent teacher deserves more, but we haven't decided how it should be determined nor how much more it should be".

The starting salary recommended by the committee, $3800, would be "visibly competitive", Mr. Kemper forecast. And he said that would be to the school superintendent's advantage in seeking new teachers.

He urged that all teachers in the system, when and if the plan is adopted, be placed in their proper grade at once. "Our understanding is that this has not always been done promptly and that is a great mistake", he told the School Committee.

The special report had no recommendations on pensions, insurance, other fringe benefits, dependency or merit raises. Mr. Kemper predicted it would take another year of study to come up with proper answers on those points. The School Committee urged the special study group to continue its work.

Commenting on the committee's recommendations, Mr. Kemper told the School Committee: "This should be a maximum salary for the average or below average teacher, but a minimum salary for all". If any extras are to be added, he stressed, they should be in addition to this basic scale.

One argument in favor of the steep increase to $5000 in five years was presented by the committee. Mr. Kemper explained that teachers' pensions are usually based on average annual salary. If teachers' pays remain low for many years, then climb steeply, the average salary often is lower than it should be in a period of inflation, resulting in inadequate pensions.

Attending the meeting as an observer was William McIntosh, a member of the Finance Committee and personnel board. He asked members of the committee if the proposed salary schedule would not put a teacher at a higher salary level than a girl who graduated from Smith College, had a master's degree from Radcliffe and worked in industry.

"You don't want to pioneer in Massachusetts", he warned. "I have no objection", commented Mr. Kemper. Mr. McIntosh suggested the town may also look at it that way. Mr. Kemper agreed that the scale might put teachers ahead of industry in some cases, but that would serve to attract more intelligent young people into the profession, he felt.

Russell congratulated the special committee, stating "Personally I have been impressed with this report and very happy with the whole thing. I think for years the School Committees have wanted to do something about these salaries. This move was definitely needed, the arguments are well-founded and the whole report is very good, very interesting, very impressive. I realize that we may meet with resentment, but if the salaries of the school teachers had been kept up, a move such as this would not have been necessary. Once we take such a stride as this, other communities will automatically fall into line."

The Committee voted to receive the report. It will be discussed at future meetings, when figures are available showing what the proposed scale would cost the town initially and in the years ahead.

The only member of the special committee not present, Fr. McQuade, sent a message of regret to the School Committee.

Hook This One Up, Too

THERE'S WATER DOWN THERE — Workmen keep busy at the test well in the Essex Sand and Gravel Company's gravel pit in Ballardvale which BPW Chairman Allan Flye said produces "considerably" more than the first one on the Abbot property. This well is not yet hooked up to the water system and a decision hasn't been reached on tying it in. (Leone)

This is the test well in a Ballardvale gravel pit that is not being tied into the town water system — yet. BPW Chairman Allan Flye has said it is producing "considerably" more than the one being tied in this week — or a good deal more than 300,000 gallons each day.

As we have done before, we urge the BPW to hook this well up to the town system, providing the relief so badly needed. The problem is now being studied. If it is humanly possible, regardless of the cost, this should be done immediately.

Wait For Facts and Figures

Many taxpayers must have been shocked at the report of the special committee studying teachers' salaries.

For it proposed salaries that, to many, seem unrealistically high.

Others, we know, agree that the teachers should receive a good deal more than they now get. There are many factors to be weighed, many facts not yet in.

And most important of these is the cost factor — what will it mean in dollars and cents to the town, not only in the first year but during the years to come?

Those facts should be available soon. We suggest that those who disagree with the recommendations and those who favor them wait, before passing final judgment, to examine all the facts. The cost will no doubt be the determining factor — let's see what that amounts to before making up our minds about the report.

Law Must Be Obeyed

Although every reader of the TOWNSMAN should know by now where this newspaper stands in regard to the water restrictions, there is one point we may not have made entirely clear.

As long as the restrictions stand, we think they should be obeyed implicitly.

There is no reason, in our opinion, for anyone to circumvent the restrictions just because they are unpleasant or because they believe them to be unnecessary. There have been frequent reports that some homeowners are watering their flower gardens, shrubs and even their lawns through devious methods chosen, not for convenience but as a means of avoiding detection.

While the restrictions are with us, complete enforcement of the rules should be undertaken. The BPW should shut off the water, as it has threatened to do, whenever a person defies the ban, for at this point, it would be hard for anyone to say they knew nothing of it.

Many men and women, although liking it not at all, have obeyed the rules as set forth by the BPW. They have watched their lawns turn brown, flowers wilt and die and their shrubs begin to suffer. But they have obeyed the restrictions, because they know that laws are made to be obeyed, not broken. All should be made to obey the law. The few who break it, in this regard, should be stopped, regardless of who they are or of how many friends they have.

Sun bathing beside a club pool these wonderful hot July days may conjure up some fine ideas for high cuisine when the hour of hunger strikes, but who really feels like making with the condiments in mid-day? No one!

There are always those few guests you ambitiously and with all your heart invited around to have supper with you, though — and on these occasions many good answers get swapped around from chaise lounge to chaise lounge.

A hot weather soup I heard suggested by my friend, Ellie Thayer (Mrs. Richard D., Nane-pashemet st., Marblehead Neck) sounded as if it should be tried in my home sometime. Maybe you'd like to beat me to it, for here's the whole recipe which I copied down as she told it. Incidentally, Ellie uses her electric blender for this as well as for many other culinary treasures she is known to trump up.

VICHYSOISE

1 1/2 lb butter
1 1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped scallions
4 med. sized potatoes
1 pt. coffee cream

Dashes of salt and pepper
Melt the 1/2 lb. butter in a 320 degree fry pan, add the onion and scallions, cover and simmer until soft, not brown. Thinly slice the potatoes, add to the onions, cover and cook until soft (about 5 min.).

MOLDED CHICKEN SALAD (Mrs. F. Tyler Carlton)

Mrs. Carlton gave me this fine recipe last week and since then I have made it. Couldn't improve it if I tried. It was once sent in to the Better Homes' & Gardens "tasting-test" kitchen and received its valued stamp of endorsement as well as a cash award.

1 pkg. lemon Jello
1 cup boiling water or chicken stock
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. paprika
1/2 cup cold water
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 tsp. grated onion
1/4 cup mayonnaise
2 cups diced chicken or 1 6-oz. can R. & R. chicken
1 cup diced celery
1 diced pimiento
1 small green pepper, chopped.

Dissolve the Jello in the hot water or chicken stock. Add the salt, paprika, cold water, lemon juice and grated onion. Cool until slightly thickened, then fold in the mayonnaise and the remaining ingredients. Place in individual molds or in one large mold in which strips of pimiento have been arranged. Chill until firm, then turn out and serve on crisp lettuce with mayonnaise. If put in ring mold, decorate center with sliced cucumbers, tomatoes, celery hearts and stuffed olives.

TURKEYS IN JULY?

I have ceased to be surprised at anything! Today my market was showing the breastiest beauties that ever graced a roasting pan, at a price that tempted me to add one to my deep freeze. There's just no season for anything anymore and I can't help sighing a little over this fact. However, it might not be a bad idea to forget sentiment and roast one some evening after the sun goes down, for quick picnic sandwiches and nice cold slices on your meat platter.

AND WATCH FOR PEACHES! The Georgia brand is soon to hit the horizon and I can hardly wait. Several good recipes for desserts are awaiting their arrival. And how they do add to a mixed fruit cup with a quick but gentle dousing of Kirsch!

Among the local girls attending the present session, July 14-27, are Katherine Ackerman, Donna Auchterlonie, Barbara Cartier, Nancy Jean Colpitts, Carol Ann Eastman, Jeanne Ellis, Dorothy Gaudet, Ann Marie Hamel, Yvette Hamel, Anne Leacock, Janet Letters, Mildred Mucci and Dawn Upton.

Registered for next session from Andover are Susan Bamford, Muriel Belkin, Lois Fortuna, Linda Holch, Sandra Nicoll, Virginia Perry and Helga Rehe.

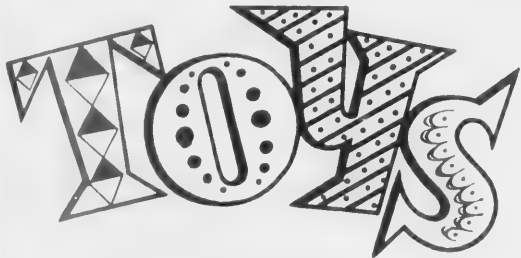

Young Artists Have Displays At Addison

Through the perceptive eye of the artist, the psychologist or the layman, pausing to view and study a collection of modern paintings and pieces of sculpture, the challenges which younger American artists are meeting today may well be revealed.

A group of very interesting work showing promise, growth and achievement in recent graduates from various art institutions all over the country is now on exhibit at Addison Gallery, opening Friday, July 12 and continuing to Sept. 23. The works were selected to represent both school experience and later performance, in order to contrast the influence of training with independent experiment following graduation.

Pomp's Pond Attractive To Young And Old Alike

THAT MIGHT BE YOU - Lifeguard John Lucey lowers an "imaginary" victim from the saddle-back carry to the beach at Pomp's Pond. It's all part of a drill staged by the lifeguards to correct any faults in their methods. Lifeguard Fred Polgreen keeps the youngsters away. The victim is Hugh Davey, who was hauled out of the water by Lifeguard Lucey, using the cross-chest carry. (Arabian Photo.)

In the greatest show of interest in the history of Pomp's
Pond as a recreational center,
Andover children are this year spending happy, healthful days playing and learning outdoor skills in increasing numbers.

Much enthusiasm is also evidenced among whole families, for many are enjoying picnic lunches together and having cook-outs on the grounds.

A snack bar is one of the innovations at Pomp's this year, serving hot dogs, hamburgers,
chips, cold drinks and other items,
with a steady stream of children ready to do business. Strict warnings are issued to them, however, by Donald A. Dunn, director of activities, to eat after the swim and not before, or, if they have eaten, to wait the customary hour afterwards.

A large bulletin board attracts readers in all age groups, displaying many good action snaps of the children in swimming, also full schedules and rules for all activities.

One of the rules not posted on the board but which Mr. Dunn emphatically wishes kept is the one prohibiting unleashed dogs from roaming about the grounds.
Many of the children's lunches and clothes disappear in this way.

Beginner's and intermediate classes, the junior and senior life saving classes and classes in diving are all in full swing. The beginners classes are held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 10 a.m.; the intermediate on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays at the same time. The junior life saving classes are held on the same days at 11 o'clock and the senior life saving classes on the same days from 6:30 to 7:30.

Classes in diving started this morning at 10:30 and will be held each Thursday and Friday.

Beginners Pass Tests

Children, ranging in ages 8 to 12, passed their beginners swimming tests on Monday in a pleasant but windy work-out at the Pond. These tests will be given every two weeks from now on.
They consist of a plain front dive, levelling off, change of direction and use of combined strokes in an 80 foot strip.

Receiving certificates and pins for successfully completing the beginners test were Edna Hall,
Mary Steele, Alan Perry, Marsha
Lee Prevics, Sharon Fair, Catherine Connolly, John Christie, Jennifer Selfridge, Judith Salvage, Michael Kardos, Peter Surette, Michele Franz, Judith Richards, Colin Sherry, Laurence Cookson, Margaret Erwin, Frank Robidoux, Janice Robinson, Mary
Sangudolce, Ellen Steinert, Susan
Morin, Michael Gordon and Nedro

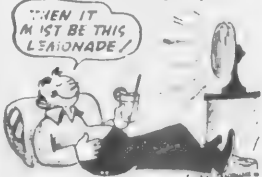

Sanfilippo.

Carol Piquette, Pat Higgins and Teresa Perry were the helpers.

No recreational swimming is permitted at the Pond on Mondays with the exception of Saturday and Sunday and the Pond is closed to swimmers each evening at 6 p.m.

May Park 50 Cars On Land Given To Town

Commuters may be able to park their cars on Rogers Dell next year.

Room for about 50 cars is available on the 33,000 square foot parcel of land offered to the town by the Andover Village Improvement Society. The land is located at the junction of Lupine rd. and School st. and has been in the Society's hand since 1929.

Miss Mary Byers Smith gave the land to the Society that year and the deed was transferred several years later, in 1935. The 1958 town meeting will have to act on the offer.

Rogers Dell had been transformed into a park by the Society, through the work of Melvin Barnes, a graduate of the Cornell School of Architecture and a local resident.

Thus, if residents wish to have their vehicles on the street longer than two hours at a time, they will be required to move them within each two hour period.

Eventually, as the Police Department finds out how the regulations react to the problem, the parking rules may be altered. White said it will be easier to paint on other information, such as hours within which the regulations must be obeyed, if that comes possible.

Other business firms in the area, also the subjects of frequent complaints from the neighbors, will have to live within the parking limits. White suggested that the Selectmen may feel it advisable to put a few meters in one or two locations, with, possibly, all-day parking for 25 cents, covering a few business houses with a few employees who must leave their cars for longer than two hours.

SECOND WELL BIG PRODUCER

any pipe laid from it to the main would go up-hill, Flye stated. There has been no cost estimate yet on laying pipe on top of the ground from well to main or for necessary pumps and power installation.

However, the first well was being listed for about $5000 — the cost of power, pumps, a pump house, chlorine and an attachment for the emergency chlorinator required by state law.

The cost of power, installed at the site, need not be wasted after this emergency, officials have explained, because if the well produces a constant supply, it would eventually be necessary to install power lines anyway.

Level Drops Daily

Meanwhile, the water level at Haggett's Pond continues to drop about half-an-inch daily — with the last available reading at about 50 inches below normal.

The BPW did not meet this week, as members attended a cook-out at the home of Chairman Flye on Lowell st.

But there has been no relaxation of the restrictions imposed several weeks ago, nor has there been any indication that the Board will relax their restrictions when one or both of the test wells are hooked up.

Pumping figures recorded daily by the BPW indicate the pond is still yielding more water than is considered safe in a dry period. Engineers have set that figure at approximately 1,400,000 gallons a day — while the pond has been producing close to two million gallons daily for thirsty Andoverites. Before the restrictions, the pumping records showed close to four million gallons pumped on several occasions and many readings at or close to three million gallons.

In general, the pumping record since the restrictions goes over two million gallons on days when farmers irrigate their fields and then falls back for a few days, until the ground dries out and irrigation takes place again. It has never dropped as low as the 1,400,000 safe yield, however.

Many Complaints

Despite the BPW's loosened restrictions on irrigating, farmers report serious damage to their crops from the prolonged dry spell — and residents generally have been griping because their lawns have turned brown, some shrubbery has died and flower gardens are withering. Complaints also continue to be heard from business firms which have air conditioners cooled by water. One firm has asked permission to run its unit, claiming a serious fall-off in business has resulted from the restriction. The BPW refused to change its regulations for that firm, however. Three complaints, two individuals and a business firm, have been warned not to use water for purposes not allowed under the BPW ban. The Board acknowledged that it has the authority to shut off the water supply to any home or business violating the rules. But Chairman Allan Flye was directed to call the violators and give them a final warning.

One Thing — Then Another

During the past seven days, the BPW has almost daily been expecting to start pumping from the first test well on the Abbot property. After a considerable delay in getting pumps and installing them, it was found that a piece of electrical equipment had yet to be installed by the power company. That job was slated for completion, certainly by yesterday. When the well is hooked into the system, it will be pumped at about 125 pounds pressure — enough higher than the pressure in the main to force the water into the system. Engineers have said the main will stand the extra pressure easily.

Set Sept. 9 For School Opening

It's good news for school children. School won't open the Wednesday after Labor Day, as has been the custom for years — rather, it will be delayed until the next Monday, Sept. 9.

But the teachers aren't quite so lucky. They have to report to school Sept. 4.

School Supt. Edward I. Erickson and the School Committee agreed on the new plan after Erickson suggested that the extra days would give teachers a chance to get ready for their pupils. He recalled that last year, when the school additions were not ready, some sessions were delayed for a few days. It worked out well, he told the Committee.

This year, in addition to the usual rush to get everything ready for the youngsters, the Junior High School has spread out into the entire Punchard High School building. And the new High School on Shawsheen rd. will be used for the first time, with both teachers and students requiring a little time to get acquainted with the new facilities.

Erickson said the tentative plans call for a luncheon party for all teachers at the new building's cafeteria, followed by a tour of the structure.

Miss Doherty Is Feted By Friends
